

Work guidance for Monday 11th May

Hi everyone!

'Macbeth' Act 5 this week.

Please don't forget that we would like you to submit your work – we suspect that quite a few of you are working through the tasks even though we've not actually received any work from you. If you're sharing a laptop/tablet and it's not that easy to email, we do understand. Please send through when you get chance though because it'll be tricky for us if you send all five weeks' worth in one go! If you are working on paper, just take a picture if you have a smartphone and email that to us. Lots of people have done this already and it works for us just fine 😊

Remember email is c.lambert@st-antonys.com or a.harris, s.holmes, or k.nuttall.

We have nearly finished going back through 'Macbeth' now. Next week is likely to be a catch-up week and beyond that, 'Jekyll and Hyde'.

Work for week beginning Monday 11th May

- Answer questions about Act Five from 'Macbeth'
- Re-read Chapter 10 of 'Jekyll and Hyde' – again, a copy of the text under the Week One instructions on the website for Jekyll and Hyde

Remember, for 'Macbeth' you should be using (for free):

<https://www.sparknotes.com/nofear/shakespeare/macbeth/>

You could buy the same version we use in school from Amazon for a penny (used copy) or around £4 (new copy with free delivery). Maybe try eBay too. If you have a Kindle (or the Kindle app) you should be able to get it for free as it's out of copyright (random fact: this usually happens 70 years after a writer's death) – the same will apply to getting your hands on a copy of 'Jekyll and Hyde' as it's old too.

If you have Prime, you could also access the Audible version for free (or you could get a 30-day free trial, but don't forget to remind whoever uses their bank card to cancel before subscriptions kick in). 'Jekyll and Hyde' is a very challenging read, so Audible might be a very good idea.

Always free (and probably easier than Audible): there are a few different audio versions on YouTube but here's one that's just 'Macbeth' Act One: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=XEYzz3xlafo> Try listening to this and following on the No Fear Shakespeare script at the same time if you can.

A free online version of 'Jekyll and Hyde' can be found here if you don't have your school copy at home: <http://www.learnlibrary.com/jekyll-hyde/> You will also get a copy that is enlarged/spaced better.

This is the audio version: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kq5qtTzBH_8 You will find the chapter start points in the comments.

Best wishes
