The heart is a mystery
Stumble out of bed each day and struggle to be free
Stood by an ocean raging blue
Big wave cracked the sidewalk and I fell down there with you. Fell in with you
I scoured the land and the sunset glow
You think you know my friend
But you just don't know
That's why the heart is a mystery
Break it in two and you'll see Things you couldn't see before

I searched for you
Found and lost you on the way
Over the hill of a better day
In every mile I couldn't comprehend
I searched for you
And I'll do it again
Should only frame you in a metaphor
Not cast you off in our own image anymore
Big questions etched across the sky
The weight and reason of everything we'd like to know.

Saw the blessing, saw the curse
I've seen my best and I've seen my worst
Seen a lot of beauty, seen a little hate
The great indifference and a twist of fate
Seen a lot of passion and empathy
The power and the greed of the 'me, me, me'
Seen a lot of suffering, seen a lot of good
Felt the big life love of a neighbourhood
A needle in the arm and the sadness grow
The holy and the hidden and the outcast soul
Seen a lot of surplus but in the wrong place
And in the eyes of the broken

I thought I saw your face
I searched for you
Found and lost you on the way
Over the hill of a better day
Now I'm stranded here in a passion play
Give me a sign I'll be there straight away Stood in line 'til I don't know when
In every mile I couldn't comprehend
I searched for you
And I'll do it again
